Concert Hall in America. The oldest established Concert Hall in the United States, from whence all the real taben emanales from Always foremost in the tell for novelty and attraction. It is amusing to read the advertisements or the other two halls, constantly villifying and abusing each other's performers, simply because the performers clange their localism from one pince to the other. One week they play down Broadway at 10 cents, the next week going higher to and playing for 35 cents. By one proprietor they are called "played out," by the other "the greatest artists of lice age." Now what do the public care for all this humbug talk?
If they wish to pay 35 cents for what they could are for 10 conts, that's their business. The Nelotion steems a different course from those humbors, going on the principle that a GOOD PERFORMER IS NEVER PLAYED OUT.
And no matter where they perform infer talen will always course from these humbous, going on the principle that a GOOD FERFORMER IS NEVER PLAYED OUP.
And no master where they perform their taken will always command the patronage of the public. The Melodeon's idea of eagaging performers is to let these bogus managers engage all that come along. Let them alvertise them, past their names around town, and do all in their power to influence the public in their favor then, it the
